Death & Government Related Expenses Top List of Items US Taxpayers Most

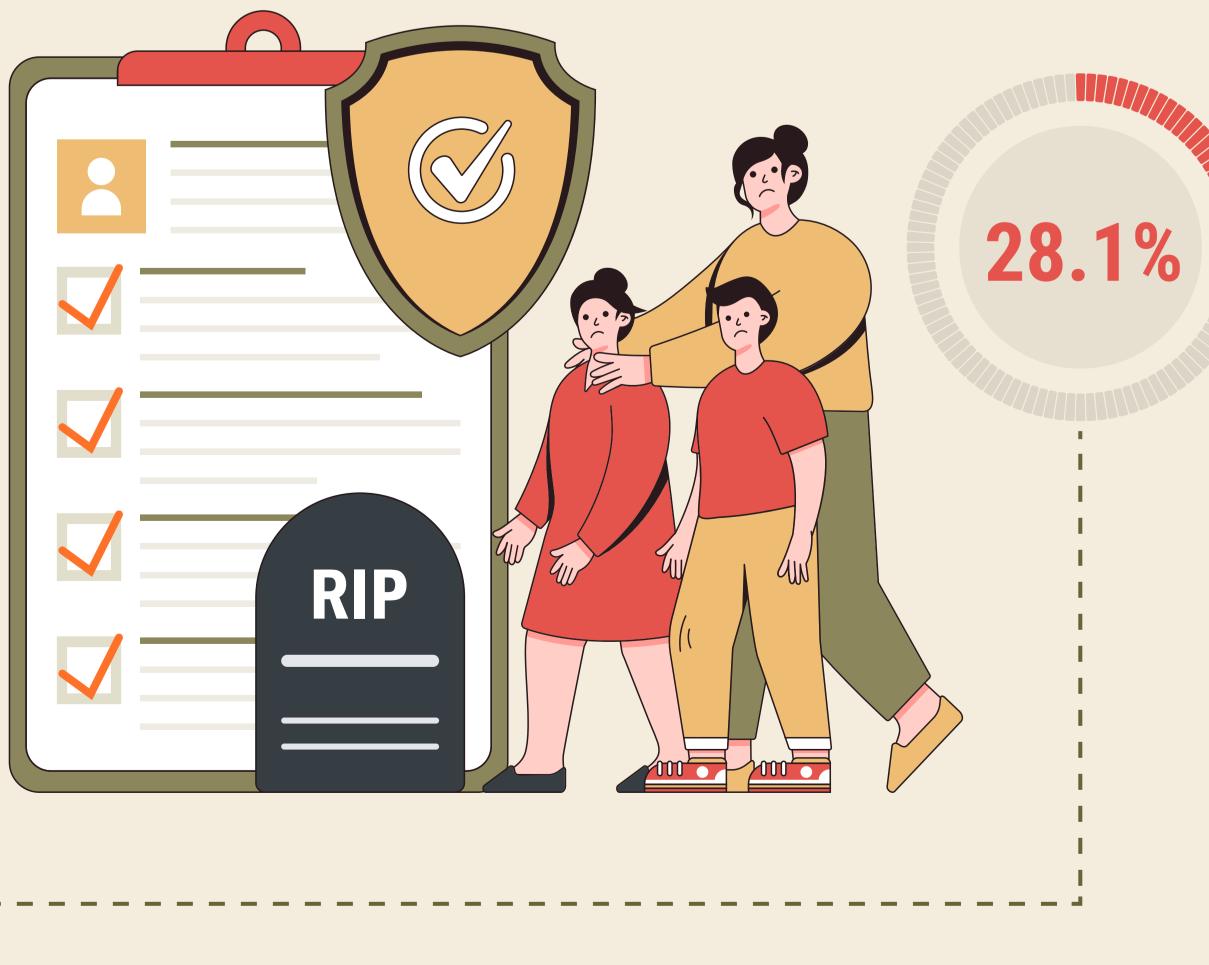

Want to Be Tax Write-Offs

We asked 1215 US taxpayers to choose the top 3 expenses (out of 14 options) they think should be tax deductions but currently aren't - and why they should be write-offs. Here's an overview of the results...

Life Insurance Premiums "Life insurance should be deductible because responsible people buy it to pay the cost of their burial and to take care of their families, so the government won't have to."

"I believe that funeral expenses should be tax deductible because

Funeral Expenses

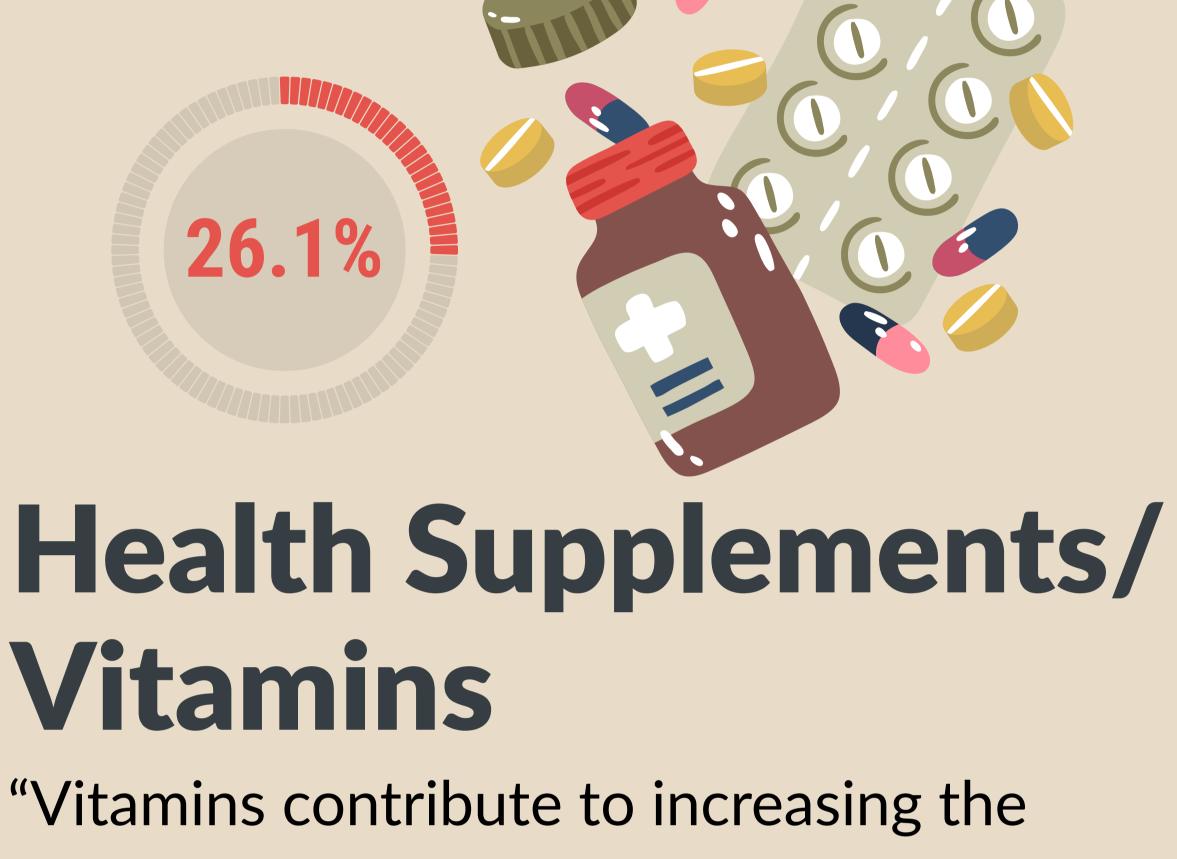

death is unavoidable and really tough on families. It is a part of life, yet very expensive to cover."

(driver's, marriage, etc.) "License Fees are already paid to the government for some services.

License Fees

So it makes sense to be able to exclude these costs from the taxable income."

preventative care."

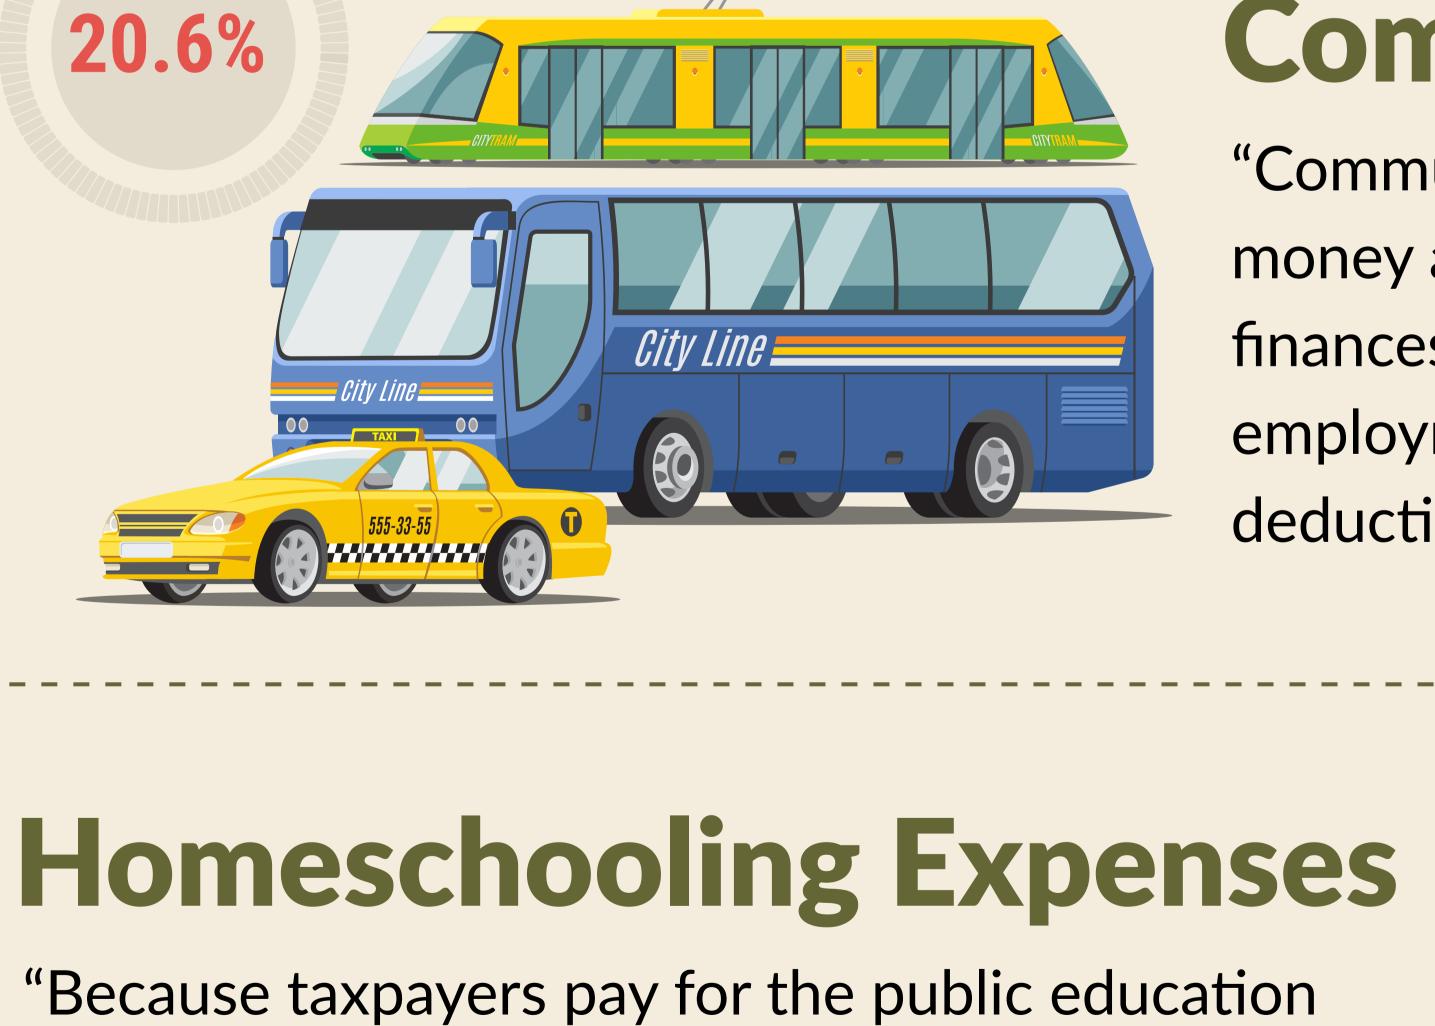

health of Americans, and can save money

by lowering insurance costs as biological certainties."

"Menstruation and death are both system. So those who homeschool are paying for both homeschooling and the public education system - double payment."

finances, and it's related to your employment usually, so making it tax

"Commuting to/from work costs a lot of money and can be a huge hit to one's deductible makes a lot of sense."

reduce the costs of policing."

Home Security Systems

"Home security systems because they make people safer, help prevent crime

and/or secure arrests which can help

16.3% Pet Health Care

opportunity to lower income individuals to stay healthy which could help reduce health care costs."

15%

Gym Memberships

"Gym memberships would provide

Political Donations "Tax deductible political donations allow individuals to better engage in the political process."

Private school

Other

tuition; Diapers; Groceries; Everything; Work Uniforms & Tools; Utility bills; School supplies

2%

Answer here include: